Washington, D. C. 20500

Dear Mr. Vice President:

On behalf of Mr. R. E. Hineman, Deputy Director for Science and Technology, let me convey an invitation to you to meet with what promises to be an exciting group of people. You may recall that the Directorate of Science and Technology organizes and conducts a Career Development Course to enhance the careers of selected, bright, energetic middle-management people from throughout the CIA. The goal is to open new vistas for these individuals and inspire them. The group would be limited to 16 to 20 people.

25X1

It has been suggested that a brief meeting with an individual with your broad perspective of the community could enrich this experience for them immeasurably.

25X1

The DS&T Director of the CDC has been in touch with Mr. G. Philip Hughes, your Deputy Assistant for National Security Affairs, in this regard; Mr. Hughes encouraged him to pursue the possibility through this invitation.

25X1

In acknowledgment of your strenuous schedule, the D/CDC and Mr. Hughes have left the possible timing of such a meeting open. There are preferred time windows, of course; the weeks of 28 May or 11 June are best, but the schedule is flexible yet.

25X1

I would encourage an informal address or a discussion on critical intelligence issues with your executive view of Intelligence Community responsiveness.

25X1

I hope you are amenable to this idea and will designate someone to get in touch with the D/CDC, (Secure), to resolve the details of timing, location and format. (C)

25X1

Respectfully yours,

A request from the DDS&T to the DCI to tender an invitation to the Vice President to meet with/ address CDC-26, and 2. An exemplar invitation. Background: Mid-Jan - C/CDS/DDS&T and DDS&T reaction to concept favorable. Initial contact at White House with Mr. Philip Hughes was encouraging. I briefed Mr. Hughes on CDC, stressing group profile, access and general status of course in CIA. Queried if I preferred "prepared remarks" or to "just sit around and chew the fat," I responded that we wouldn't want to ask unexpected/unwelcome questions but most informal venue would be best. Mr. Hughes said not to expect an hour; would have to be at White House (probably) and should be flexible on timing. I suggested a theme topic of "an executive or White House view of the IC with reflections on his perceived changes." Mr. Hughes and I discussed invitation/memo protocol briefly; Mr. Hughes would convey this background info to the VP when invitation received. Thinks it may be favorably treated. Have reviewed Mr. Philip Hughes' bio data and arranged for him to brief CDC-26 on overview of NSC and his role as Dep Asst to the VP for National Security Affairs. DDS&T and ADDS&T may wish to meet him (?).
